

Helios Announces 2011 Apollo Awards Winners

Award Honors the Washington-area Business' Best Practices in Employee Development

Reston, Va. – June 1, 2011 – Helios, a provider of human capital management solutions that optimize workforce and business operations, today announced the winners of the 2011 Apollo Awards. In its fifth year, the Apollo Awards program is the premier award program for recognizing employers in the Washington metropolitan region that invest in innovative employee development initiatives.

“Congratulations to this year’s winners, who exemplify what the Apollo Awards have grown to represent over the last five years – businesses that truly believe their employees are their core, and therefore, have built corporate cultures of intention,” said Kathy Albarado, President and CEO of Helios. “This year’s winners especially stand out for promoting leadership development opportunities through philanthropic efforts in their community.”

Helios HR is pleased to announce the 2011 Apollo Award winners:
